

An Asia-focused exploration company listed in London has offshore assets in the Gulf of Thailand and Indonesia. In light of the BP disaster, Client required support reviewing and rewriting their HSE guidelines for their producing operations at the offshore Gulf of Thailand field.

Our Approach

KBC consultants undertook a visit to client's offices in Thailand for discussions and HSE documentation reviews with the management team and HSE officers. The consultants also met with Thai regulators to ensure their concerns can be addressed and incorporated into the new HSE guidelines.

Project Outcomes

KBC consultants worked to ensure that the new HSE manual specifically addressed issues associated with the client's operations in Thailand and the Bualuang Field satisfied the regulatory requirements and concerns. As a result, all HSE documents are now to international best practice standards. KBC also provided the client with a list of actions for continuing the improvement of the HSE documents internally.

As a testimony to KBC's excellent work, KBC was invited back to revise and prepare Emergency Response Procedures (ERPs) for the client.
